Using this map
 This map is intended as a general guide for contacting the historical societies and groups associated with a particular area within the Yarra Ranges. Much of the region's history and heritage has relevance to multiple townships, and as such the borders defined here are not intended to be absolute. You can use the map to contact a historical society who may refer you to another group with relevant knowledge or archives. Alternatively, you can seek out the collections policies of the different organisations, which are generally available online. The Yarra Ranges Regional Museum is a regional institution and can also provide guidance on researching particular areas.
